Introduction To Puffy Finance

We watched the world adopt Binance Smart Chain & we all could testify on its growth & the returns on investment for early investors especially during the last major bull run but guess what – It is not over yet! There is more to come!

OxPolygon has also seen exponential growth in the past few quarters of the year following its change from Matic Network.

In the future we see more EVM-Compatible platforms getting launched with more intelligent & smarter support for the rich universe of Ethereum tools & DAPPs making it easier for projects & developers to port their projects over from one network to the other.

Puffy Finance serves as the unifying ecosystem that allows interoperability across these multiple networks & is built to establish a robust foundation for present & other future projects. The Puffy Finance Token will serve as the governance token for this innovative & scalable ecosystem.

In this document we shall be covering and sharing with you all required and necessary information as much as possible as regards the Puffy Finance Ecosystem. This new innovative platform springs forth out of our quest and desire for something better! The day the cryptocurrency industry stops evolving will mark the beginning of its death, thankfully it has never stopped growing - There is always an improvement required right just around the corner.

This technologically unlimited environment has created the circumstances for the birth of our unique innovation and solution. The problem and daily complaints from users and developers alike sparks the demand for the solution that Puffy Finance offers. For this reason, there is already a potential huge audience of early adopters of the platform. We are ready to shine the light and take the bold steps to be among the very first innovative team to be ahead to provide this solution and launch it as a full community owned & decentralized platform. We bring to you the Puffy Finance Ecosystem. In this document herein you find more details and information you need to know. We are ready to raise the bar, break new records, chart new courses and roll out on this unique project, we are ready to build our own galaxy! Are you? If your answer is yes, Then you are most welcome to join us.
